TEN MUST GO TO PENITENTIARY

county. Vicente Trujillo was before the court at the November term, 1908, and found guilty of an assault on John Sweeney, with a rock, and sentence was suspended pending his good behavior by Judge Mills. Being brought before the court again, within six months, the court imposed a penalty of one year in the penitentiary.

Fred Farnham, the ex-railroad brakeman, and who has been in the county jail for the past four months charged with larceny from the dwelling of Mrs. Bertha Regensberg, and taking therefrom a large amount of property, and who was tried and found guilty by the jury during the term, was the last prisoner to receive his sentence. He looked very pale and haggard when he stood up before the court, and when asked whether he had anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be imposed upon him, replied: "I am innocent of this charge. I did think the evidence was in my favor at the trial, with the exception of our explanation as to where we got the carpet, and as to that I thought the word of my wife and myself would be sufficient to convince the jury that we had not stolen it. I have never come in contact with the law before. My record from my boyhood to the present, or until I was charged with this offense, is clear and clean, and I do not think at this age I would start in to do things like this. I ask your honor to be as lenient with me as possible."

Judge Mills then reviewed briefly the evidence in the Farnham case, and stated that it was somewhat conflicting; that much of the evidence was circumstantial, and that Farnham had been ably defended by his counsel. The court stated that he would take into consideration the fact that he had been in jail for several months and would not impose a penitentiary sentence upon him, but would give him six months in the county jail. This sentence by Judge Mills of Farnham seemed to meet with general approval of all who were present, and heard the court review the testimony. Farnham's mother and wife were in court, and it was very affecting to see the mother and wife go to his assistance as Farnham staggered back to his seat.

Sheriff Romero will take the prisoners sentenced to the penitentiary to Santa Fe tomorrow on train No. 1. He will also take with him Leandro Romero and David Encinas, the two men convicted one year ago for the murder of John H. Teitlebaum and who were brought over from Santa Fe to testify as witnesses in the case of the Territory vs Virginia de Teitlebaum, who was acquitted of the charge of being an accessory before the fact in the murder of her husband.

SCORE OF CONVERTS RECORD FOR WEEK

Last night the largest crowd of the week assembled in the National Guard armory to listen to the gospel message presented by Evangelist E. E. Violet. He chose for his subject "A Fool's Religion," basing his remarks upon the parable of the "Rich Fool" as found in Luke 12. The picture the evangelist gave of the miserly, self-centered old man will not soon be forgotten by those that heard him. In part he said:

"Here is a man in which the 'I' and 'my' were the chief things. My house; my barns; this will I do. He takes out insurance on all his property and on his life, yet takes no insurance against the fires of hell. He said, 'Soul, thou hast much goods for many days. God said 'Thou fool, this night is they soul required.' Here is a vivid contrast between man's way of looking at things, and God's. Man says, 'Many days; God says, 'This night. The creed of this man's life is worthy of note. The first article was take thine ease. The second, eat, drink and be merry. And that is all some men think about. When they discharge their business obligations, have a home and something to eat, they think that is the supreme end of life. The man who does not reckon God in is making the mistake of his life. Success in life does not consist in short yards and false weights, but Christ Jesus means that a follower of His shall give 36 inches for a yard and 16 ounces for a pound."

When the invitation hymn was sung, three more people came forward to unite with the Christian church, making twenty-one the first six days of the meeting. The plea of the disciples of Christ is new in this city, but that it is a winner is shown by the results of the first week's work. Evangelist Violet said:

"You may hear greater preachers, but you will never hear a greater plea. This is the centennial of the Disciples of Christ, and 1,500,000 people in the United States stand for the Bible only as the rule of faith and practice. You owe it to yourself and to the city to hear first handed what this religious body teaches. A plea that can win in Las Vegas certainly demands the attention of the thinking people, and this it is receiving."

A baptism and robing rooms have been arranged in the armory and after the preaching service last night, Mr. Dutt immersed six persons. It was a most beautiful and impressive service.

There will be no service tonight. Sunday the services will be as follows:

9:45 Bible school.
11:00 a. m., The communion will be observed. The preaching subject will be "The Gospel of Christ."
3:00 p. m., Mr. Dutt will lead a great song service and Evangelist Violet's subject will be "What is a Christian?"

There will be a baptismal service tomorrow night.

C. H. Weber, a St. Louis baker in ill health, left here yesterday afternoon for Denver, declaring that he had received no climatic relief in a sojourn of only twenty-four hours in Las Vegas.
